CHAPTER 5: SCIENTIFIC ACTIVITY

Leadership or participation in the activities of a research group involving national or international collaborations

LEADERSHIP OF AN INTERNATIONAL RESEARCH GROUP ON “OSTEOGENIC DISTRACTION OF THE JAWS”. From 1998 to 2010, Dr Albanese actively participated in the international university collaboration established between the Maxillofacial Surgery Unit led by Prof. P. F. Nocini and the Maxillofacial Surgery Unit led by Prof. Konrad Wangerin. This collaboration made it possible to undertake surgical and research training at the Department of Plastic and Maxillofacial Surgery of Marienhospital, Stuttgart, Germany, in the field of osteogenic distraction of the jaws for morpho-functional rehabilitation and bone regeneration in implant-prosthetic rehabilitation of the stomatognathic system. The research led to the publication of the following scientific contributions:

1. P.F. Nocini, K. Wangerin, M. Albanese, W. Kretschmer, R. Cortelazzi. Vertical distraction of a free vascularized fibula flap in a reconstructed hemimandible: case report. J Cranio Maxillofac Surg; 28: 20-24, 2000. (ISSN 1010-5182).

LEADERSHIP OF A MULTIDISCIPLINARY RESEARCH GROUP ON “ULTRASOUND MONITORING OF THE POST-DISTRACTION OSTEOGENIC PROCESS”. The study involved the use of an ultrasound follow-up protocol to assess the validity of ultrasound for short- to medium-term monitoring of the process of distraction osteogenesis. The study was conducted in collaboration with the Radiology Clinic of the University of Verona. The research led to the publication of the following scientific contributions:

LEADERSHIP OF AN INTERNATIONAL RESEARCH GROUP ON “HISTOLOGICAL ANALYSIS OF BONE TISSUE OBTAINED THROUGH OSTEOGENIC DISTRACTION”. In collaboration with Prof. Robert Schenk (University of Bern, Switzerland), the study involved the analysis of bone-tissue biopsies obtained through osteogenic distraction after a three-month consolidation period. The study aimed to assess whether the newly formed bone tissue was suitable for the placement of endosseous implants for prosthetic rehabilitation. OSTEOLOGY FOUNDATION – Project No. 11-032 – "Sodium-DNA in dental and maxillofacial surgery (*)" – 1/06/2012–1/06/2014 – CO-INVESTIGATOR: Dr M. Albanese.

The aim of this work was to assess the efficacy of sodium-DNA at different concentrations, used alone or in combination with Bio-Oss, for the repair of bone defects. In particular, the hypothesis was that sodium-DNA might represent a better therapeutic alternative, providing superior healing compared with bone-substitute grafting alone. On this basis, the effects of sodium-DNA, used alone or in combination with Bio-Oss, on bone-defect healing were assessed using a rat calvarial-defect model.
