Assessment

Final grades for each course will be determined based on at least two evaluation components, which may include oral exams, written exams, group presentations, or other formats, as defined by each instructor.
It is essential to read the course syllabi carefully, as they outline the specific criteria and expectations for each course.
Final exam dates are fixed and cannot be changed. In general, undergraduate courses do not offer make-up exams, while some graduate courses do. However, this option is typically not available for exchange students.

Transcripts

Transcripts will be sent to the home university within five weeks of the last day of final exams.
For students enrolled in courses from the Master in International Studies or the Master in Political Science, transcript issuance may take up to three months.

- There is no mistake in the absence of a grade equivalent to 3; UTDT does not have such a grade.
- Use of the grade (U) Absent: At the undergraduate level, this is a temporary grade assigned in cases of justified absence, pending the submission of a final grade. Absences are considered justified only in cases of duly documented illness or bereavement, and when the corresponding request procedures are followed in a timely manner.
  At the graduate level, (U) is a final grade, assigned to students who do not attend the final exam or who withdraw from a course after the official drop deadline.
- Use of the grade (F) – Fail: This grade is assigned in cases of unjustified absence from an exam, withdrawal after the drop deadline, or failure due to academic misconduct.

University life and extracurricular activities

UTDT offers a wide variety of activities and programs designed for international students to integrate into university life, meet their local peers, practice or learn Spanish, and become familiar with campus culture.

Exchange students are invited to participate in student clubs such as Blockchain, Cinema, Consulting, Entrepreneurship, Finance, among others, as well as in student-led initiatives, such as the Student Center or the social action group. They can also join our sports activities - chess, basketball, functional training, soccer, swimming, volleyball, and yoga, among others - open to the entire community and designed for both beginners and those with experience.

In addition, they can enjoy cultural offerings such as theater, choir, singing, as well as various social events organized by the International Programs Office.

Ambassadors Program

Each semester, incoming students are paired with outgoing UTDT students who are currently completing or will soon undertake a mobility period in the same region. These local students provide guidance and support to help visiting students adapt to life in Buenos Aires and at UTDT.

The program is designed to foster connections that extend beyond a single semester, encouraging continued interaction before, during, and after the exchange. It promotes cultural exchange, smoother integration, and the development of lasting international networks and relationships.

Housing

The UTDT campus is located in the northern part of the City of Buenos Aires. It does not currently have its own student residences. For this reason, accepted students will receive information about the various accommodation options available in the city, such as furnished apartments, shared apartments, homestays, student residences, and hostels.

The neighborhoods most chosen by students are Belgrano, Las Cañitas, Palermo, and Recoleta.

Immigration

Students must obtain either a student visa or an electronic entry permit to study at UTDT. In the acceptance package, students will receive information on how to obtain these documents. Students who fail to submit proof of either of these documents by the end of their first semester of studies at UTDT will not receive a transcript.

Health insurance

UTDT requires all exchange and free mover students to provide proof of comprehensive medical services valid in Argentina prior to course enrollment. The service must cover the entire period from the student's initial entry into the country until the last day of exams at UTDT. Failure to submit proof of valid coverage that meets UTDT's requirements by the stated deadline may result in the University disenrolling the student from their courses.

Before purchasing any service, it is important to carefully read all of its features. It is also essential to understand the difference between travel insurance and medical coverage. For further information please see this link.

Estimated living costs

These costs are included merely as a guide, as the lifestyles of students vary greatly.

When budgeting, students should also consider costs related to visa, international travel, etc.

Room, board and transportation:

USD 800-1200/month

Health insurance: USD 468/semester

All exchange and study abroad students will be required to pay a one-time, non-refundable student fee of USD 50 to cover the cost of the orientation, printing and participation in sports, social, and cultural activities. Students participating in the Business in Argentina: Understanding Emerging Markets program must pay a one-time USD 100 student fee.

Buenos Aires

Known as the "Paris of Latin America," Buenos Aires stands out for its impressive architecture and the warmth of its people. It has been recognized as the "Most Livable City in Latin America" (The Economist), the "Best City in the region in the Global Talent Competitiveness Index" (INSEAD, Adecco, Human Capital Leadership Institute), and the "Most Global City in Latin America" (AT Kearney Global Cities Ranking). Furthermore, it is one of the destinations with the greatest theatrical offerings and number of bookstores in the world. Buenos Aires is also a vibrant cultural center, renowned for its art, tango, gastronomy, nightlife, and passion for sports.
